Oh, faretheewell my dear Mary Anne
 Our days have all gone by
 Spring is coming and soon I'll be gone
 But I'll come back, don't you cry my dear Mary Anne.

A lobster dies in the boiling pot
 Oh pity the bluefish, too
 But they're quickly gone and they suffer not
 The way I cry for you my dear, Mary Anne.

Oh don't you see the pretty turtle dove
 That flies from pine to pine
 Crying for its own true love
 The way I cry for you my dear Mary Anne.
